RED SEA AND INDIA TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—Telegraphic Communication has been successfully established between Suez and the island of Jubal in the Red Sea, and arrangements have been made with the Post Master General for all mail steamers to call off Jubal on their way to and from Suez, to land and receive messages.
This is to give notice that the undersigned has been appointed sole agent in Bombay for the Red Sea and India Telegraph Company, and that he is prepared to receive messages from this date forward, subject to the following conditions.
Pending the receipt of a printed tariff, messages will be received in Bombay for any telegraph station in the United Kingdom at the rate of Rs. 36-8 for the first twenty words including names and addresses of sender and receiver, and Rs. 17-12 for every additional ten words or fraction of ten words.
No figures to be used in a message.
All messages will be numbered as they are received, and will be forwarded from Jubal in the same order.
Every message to be accompanied by its cost, a small printed receipt will be handed to the messenger bringing it, upon which will appear the number of the message.
It is particularly requested that each message shall be forwarded to this office in a sealed envelope bearing upon its face the words "Overland telegram," and addressed to the Agent of the Red Sea and India Telegraph Company.
As the majority of messages will come in about the time the mails leave, all correspondence about them will have to stand over until they have been despatched, and it is therefore advisable that trustworthy messengers should be sent with them so as to avoid the necessity for correspondence.
At present the undersigned is not prepared to furnish a list of the telegraph stations in the United Kingdom nor to state the rates for intermediate ports of stations.
All messages from up country stations, must be accompanied by a reference for payment to some firm in Bombay. For further particulars apply at the office.

vel north, south, east and west, and be safe from injury and insult. If his journey be on land, the tribes, such as Bhils and Kulis, which formerly would have plundered him, are now the police which protect him; if his course be over the sea, he no longer fears lest behind each head-land there should lurk some ferocious rover, and that to double it will be his death or ruin. His religion is tolerated, and his person respected. The oppressions of petty tyrants are restrained by equitable laws, and he meets with consideration and politeness from those rulers, whom he still regards as outcasts and unfit to share his social enjoyments. How widely different was the life of an Englishman under Native Government! There was no power sufficient to protect the merchant either by land or sea. If he wished to convey his goods from Surat to Agra, he could only hope to defend them against plunderers by mustering a strong party, and setting regular guards at each camping place, as though he were in an enemy's country. Even then he might be overpowered by the free lances of Hindustan. Still more dangerous were the paths of the ocean. There he must entirely depend upon his own resources, for it would be vain to seek protection from the law. Nay, the proud Emperor appealed to the despised strangers that his shipping might be protected, and they were expected not only to defend themselves, but also the mariners and traders of a vast Empire. Yet he and his subjects, helpless haughty barbarians, affected to despise the English, wronged them incessantly, imprisoned their chiefs, insulted their envoys, fleeced their merchants, and drove them to turn upon their oppressors in despair." The intelligent natives have looked candidly at these things, and they have come to cherish feelings of confidence and loyalty towards the British Government. In the same way, with the growing intelligence of the natives, feelings of confidence and friendship towards the non-official class of Europeans keep pace. It is seen by them that the social, commercial, civil and political interests of the latter are identical with their own. Where else in India do we find such a state of feeling existing on the part of the natives towards non-official Europeans as has recently been manifested in Lower Bengal! In Lower Bengal, however, this feeling of hostility was stirred up by members of the official class. It does not exist elsewhere; and it will soon die out there, if not kept alive by those whom, as their rulers, the natives even regard with obsequiousness and servility. And have the natives no cause for this confidence towards non-official Europeans! Even in Bengal where the latter have been the subjects of so much obloquy and misrepresentation, what have they not done for the good of the country and the people. When the merchants of Calcutta opposed many of the acts of Lord Canning's Government, they did so, we believe, conscientiously, and were not actuated by personal and political considerations. We believe them when they say, that in all their actions they had no object in view, but what they conceived to be for the public good. It must, indeed, be a satisfaction to them that nearly all of the measures which they have advocated have ultimately received the sanction of Lord Canning's Government. At the Chamber of Commerce of Calcutta, on a recent occasion, the following remarks were made by one of the most influential of its members:—

"1. The first point is as to the state of the Finances, and the agitation which the Chamber got up on that subject, resulted in Mr. Wilson being sent out to put them in order.

"2. We objected to the system of open loans, and recommended the Government borrowing when funds were required in England.

"3. We recommended that the loans raised for Indian purposes should be issued with the Imperial guarantee, so as to lessen the burden in the shape of interest to India. That point has been a matter of discussion, but we hope that England will some day see the expediency of making this concession as it will cost her nothing.

"4. We called for a reduction of expenditure, and the last statement of accounts testifies how successfully the exertions of Mr. Wilson, Mr. Laing, Colonel Balfour, and their able subordinates have been in this particular.

"5. We prayed for a policy which should be constantly directed to opening the country for Railways, Canals, Roads, &c., and these are being carried out.

"6 We prayed to see 'a freehold tenure established' and, as stated in the Resolution which I have read to you, this was the closing act of Lord Canning's administration.

"7. We objected to the Import Duties 'as being an act of retrogressive character' and prayed that 'when a financial equilibrium can be established by other means, these extra duties be removed.' One of our objects in coming here to-day is to remind the Government as to its duty on this point.

"8. We suggested increased taxation, which has been resorted to, viz., the Income Tax, Stamp Duties, &c.

"9. We prayed 'for the admission of persons selected from the Mercantile, Capatalist and Propertied classes,' to Council.

We have to thank Lord Canning for being instrumental in carrying out the views of the Chamber so successfully."

Are not these important measures, which the merchants of Calcutta were chiefly instrumental in obtaining, all in the interests of the country and its people? Are not the intelligent natives of India capable of seeing this fact? Can it be possible that, seeing it, they should cherish feelings of jealousy and hostility towards the non-official classes? These questions admit of a ready answer. They explain the fact that, where official interference has not excited a different mainfestation of feeling, there exists a growing confidence on the part of the natives towards the non-official class of Europeans. Lord Canning was well aware of this fact, and he took advantage of it. He conciliated the natives by attending to the representations and interests of the independent European community. Rulers should remember this example of Lord Canning, and "go and do likewise."

OUR new Governor, Sir Bartle Frere, is expected to arrive in Bombay by the China Mail due on the 20th instant. He will receive a cordial welcome from this community, from no members of it more than from ourselves.

WE beg to remind our readers that the Annual Meeting of the Free Church of Scotland's Auxiliary Mission Society, is to be held this evening at five o'clock in the Free Church on the Esplanade. The Report for the past year will be read, and addresses made. The labors of the Missionaries are so well known and appreciated that we need not now urge the claims of the Mission. We trust that the friends of Missions will by their presence at the meeting this evening mark their appreciation of the value of the Society's labors.

WHEN George II. asked a general officer his opinion about the strength of Gibraltar, the officer answered:—'At present, Sire, I think it impregnable, but there is no knowing what your Majesty's engineers may make of it.' What is implied in the officer's answer might long ago have been said of the Ramparts of Bombay; but we are happy now to be able to state on the best authority, that we know what Her Majesty's engineers are about to make of them. The fiat has gone forth, let them be raised even to the ground. It only remains now to do the work, which will be entered upon ere long.

WE understand that a princely mercantile house of this city is about to enter, on a grand scale on the important enterprise of improving the cultivation and marketable condition of Indian cotton. If we are rightly informed, the scene of the operations to which we refer is to be Berar. Besides endeavoring to improve the cultivation of the staple by means of a large experimental or model farm, this firm will have a responsible European Agent on the spot, prepared to make advances to the ryots on contracts for all the cotton they can produce, who will personally superintend the cleaning of the cotton in mills to be erected for the purpose and the packing of it by screws also to be erected. The bales will then be stored on the spot, and forwarded to Bombay, according to orders, for immediate shipment. This will render unnecessary the services of a tribe of harpies in Bombay as well as the expenses of godowns. This is an enterprise worthy of our merchant princes at such a time as the present; and we have no doubt that a princely fortune every cotton season will be the reward received.

THE shoe question, we observe, has again been agitated in more quarters than one, and we are informed, that in the Secretariat recently it has also been brought "on the carpet"! The Acting Under-Secretary prohibits any of his Establishment to enter into his august presence without the shoes being taken off at the door of his room, unless the individual has on English shoes and stockings. The consequence has been that rather than suffer the indignity (many consider it to be such) of taking off their shoes, the majority of the Clerks who are obliged to enter Mr. Peile's room, have resorted to the alternative of wearing English shoes and stockings. Those who are unable to bear the additional expense entailed on them, are assisted, we hear, by their richer brethren, who have thus manifested a liberality and fellow-feeling rarely to be found in the "mild Hindu." One good effect of the order, however, has been that the Revenue Department, remarkable for having so many bare legs under the tables, (the employés being nearly all Hindoos) present now quite a respectable appearance. This is a novel mode of introducing or promoting civilization. Good can only thus come out of such evil.

AT a Meeting of the Mazagon Mutual Improvement Association held on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. Mills, Dr. A. G. Fraser delivered his Lecture or "Lesson," as it was designated, on the Atmosphere, which from unavoidable causes had been often postponed. After briefly noticing the weight, height, quantity, &c. of the atmosphere, the Lecturer described the component parts of the air we breathe, and their properties. This portion of the Lecture was illustrated by a number of Chemical experiments which considerably enhanced its interest. Oxygen and nitrogen gases were made, and their respective properties illustrated. Dr. Fraser concluded by referring to the power and goodness of the Creator as manifested in the atmosphere. He exhorted his audience always to rise from a contemplation of nature to nature's God. At the motion of Mr. Hastie, a vote of thanks was passed to Dr. Fraser for his highly interesting and instructive Lecture.

The next Meeting of the Association will be held on Tuesday the 8th instant at 7½ P. M. when a paper on "self reliance" by Mr. Hastie will be read, and, as the object of the Association is to combine amusement and instruction, a few select songs will be sung and recitations made.

NEW HACK CONVEYANCES FOR BOMBAY.—We understand that a Bombay merchant now in England with a view to improve the style of hack conveyances in Bombay, has sent out five Hansom cabs which were built in England. The cost of each cab, laid down in Bombay, is Rs. 500 and the cost of two suitable horses, harness, etc, will bring up the amount invested on each cab to Rs. 1,000. The present rate of fare would not therefore yield a sufficient return to prevent loss and, from calculations made by Mr. Forjett, an increase on the present fare by one half, for all distances, is called for to render the undertaking reasonably remunerative. As the introduction of these comfortable and convenient vehicles in supersession of the inconvenient and unsightly hack buggies is deserving of encouragement, Mr. Forjett requests that the Chief Commissioner of Police, will have the goodness to solicit His Excellency the Governor in Council to sanction an increased rate of fares for the said vehicles: (a statement of which has been made out and submitted to the Chief Commissioner of Police) as the rates of fares lately sanctioned by Government do not specify intermediate distances and the one submitted having been framed with the view of rectifying existing omissions. As all regulations relative to public conveyances must first be submitted to the Court of Petty Sessions, before they are sent to Government for their sanction, this matter must first be taken into consideration by that court.

BOMBAY POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

FORT POLICE OFFICE.

Wednesday, 2nd April 1862.

(BEFORE W. CRAWFORD, Esq.)

THE SHOE QUESTION IN BOMBAY.—Nusserwanjee Byramjee, Cabinet-maker, appeared to answer a summons which had been taken out against him by Major A. H. Curtis, a Commissioner of Income Tax, for Defamation. The charge was under Chap. XXI., Section 499, of the New Penal Code.

The complainant appeared in person.

Mr. Barton for the defendant.

His WORSHIP read the section of the New Penal Code under which the summons was granted.

Major A. H. Curtis on being sworn said.—I am a Commissioner of Income Tax for the town and island of Bombay. The defendant published a letter in the Bombay Gazette newspaper of the 29th of March last, in which he accused Mr. Scott.

Mr. Barton.—That has nothing to do with the present charge; my client is charged with defaming Major Curtis, not Mr. Scott.

Major Curtis continued.—On Monday the 31st of March he published another letter in the Bombay Gazette newspaper, in which, after expressing his regret for having been unwittingly led to make a statement regarding Mr. Scott as one of the Income tax Commissioners, he proceeds to remark with reference to me that I was the person who had threatened him on the occasion alluded to in a former letter which he had published in the Bombay Gazette newspaper, of Saturday, 29th of March. The charge he there makes in his second letter he transfers to me.

Mr. Barton.—You must first prove that it is our letter.

Major Curtis here wished to put in the Gazette newspaper, containing the letter.

His WORSHIP.—(To Major Curtis).—You cannot put in the letter, but it may be read. The newspaper is of no use in itself, you must prove the publication of it.

Major Curtis.—I believe that there is a member of the Bombay Gazette Press in Court.

His WORSHIP.—You cannot take it because a man's name is at the bottom of it, you will be obliged to prove that the letter was sent by the defendant to the paper and that it was published in his name. It is necessary first to prove the publication and next to bring it home to the defendant.

Mr. Barton.—I can prove that the defendant cannot write a word of English.

His WORSHIP.—That would not be sufficient, it would be quite enough to prove that he authorized it to be written or that he signed it. We cannot go on with this case until the letter is proved to have emanated from the defendant.

Mr. Barton.—I am perfectly prepared to meet this case; my client is put to considerable expense and the prosecution ought to be properly conducted. If Major Curtis was acting here in his individual capacity, I should not think of pressing for costs, but as he is acting as Income tax Commissioner, I think I am entitled.

His WORSHIP.—It is as plain as A. B. C. Major Curtis is acting as Income tax Commissioner. The matter of costs may be mentioned hereafter.

The further hearing of the case was then postponed until Friday next at twelve o'clock.

UTTERING A FORGED BOMBAY BANK NOTE FOR ONE THOUSAND RUPEES.—Dawa Heerjee, a Marwarree, was charged, under Section 471 of the New Penal Code, with having forged a Bombay Bank Note for Rs. 1,000.

Dr. Dallas conducted the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Sangster appeared on behalf of the prisoner.

This case has been under investigation since January last, and from the evidence adduced it appears that the prisoner went to the shop of the prosecutor, a Marwaree, of the name of Bhorajee Bhickajee, with whom he had been in the habit of dealing on previous occasions; and wanted him to give him change of a Bank Note for Rs. 1,000. The prosecutor not having sufficient change the note was left with him, and the prisoner was to have called again in the course of the day for the cash. The note was then sent to a man of the name of Jamerchund, to pay a hoondie, from whence the note was taken in the Bombay Bank and was eventually suspected of not being a genuine one. The prisoner did not return at the time that he had promised. On the next day the prosecutor went in search of him and when he saw him, he told him that the note was not a good one, and that it had been detained in consequence. The prisoner then wanted to persuade the prosecutor to go back to the place where he had left the note and to endeavour to get it. The prosecutor desired the prisoner to go with him about the note but he declined to go. At a subsequent interview which the prosecutor had with the prisoner he denied all knowledge of the transaction, whereupon the prisoner was given into custody.

The prisoner was again remanded until Saturday next.

COURT OF SMALL CAUSES.

(Wednesday, 2nd April 1862.)

(BEFORE J. F. HOPE, ESQ.)

Pestonjee Nusserwanjee vs. Messrs. Leggatt & Co

Mr. Prentis appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Bayley instructed by Mr. Leathes, for the defendants.

A QUESTION OF BROKERAGE.—This was an action by the plaintiff to recover Rs. 316-12 for his brokerage at the rate of four annas per ton on the sale of 1267 tons of coal belonging to the defendants, sold "to arrive" ex-ship Cameronian through him at their request. Defendants admitted the contract but denied the plaintiff's right to brokerage on the ground that the sale was not completed, the purchaser Jamsetjee Eduljee having broken the contract.

Plaintiff, on being sworn, said he was a petty broker. He negotiated the contract between the defendants and Jamsetjee Eduljee. Mr. Leggatt, Junior, requested him to find a purchaser for 1300 tons of coals which was expected to arrive in the ship Cameronian. It was a written contract and signed by the purchaser Jamsetjee Eduljee. Mr. Leggatt promised to pay witness four annas per ton as brokerage. The vessel arrived a month after the contract was made and the whole of the coals were delivered by the defendants. When witness applied to the defendants for his brokerage, Mr. Leggatt, Senior, refused to give and assaulted him with blows. At the request of Mr. Leggatt he served three notices upon Jamsetjee Eduljee to take delivery of the coals. Jamsetjee paid Rs. 7000 to defendants and the rest was paid by Kandass Narrondass to whom the coals were mortgaged by him.

Jamsetjee Eduljee, a dealer in coals, stated that he was introduced to Mr. Leggatt, Junior, by the plaintiff. At the time the contract was signed, plaintiff told Mr. Leggatt that he would charge brokerage at the rate of four annas per ton, and Mr. Leggatt said he would pay what was usually paid by other merchants. As witness was unable to pay for the whole of the coals he got the contract transferred in the name of Kandass Narrondass who is a banker and who usually made advances to him. He himself paid Rs. 7000, while the rest was paid by Kandass. That brokerage becomes due after the whole of the purchase money is paid.

Framjee Rustomjee, a petty broker, said he had experience of twenty years in his business. The brokerage is earned as soon as the bargain is struck, but the practice is to pay it after the goods are delivered and paid for. The petty broker does not guarantee the solvency of the purchaser. Whether the goods are transferred or mortgaged by the original purchaser to another party, the first broker is entitled to his brokerage. He was unable to mention any instances.

Petamber Morarjee, also a petty broker, said that in several cases he had got his brokerage before the purchase money was paid. In cases where the contract is transferred or mortgaged by the original purchaser, the broker becomes entitled to his brokerage. Witness could not name any instances. It is usual for several houses such as Messrs Nicol & Co., Leckié, & Co., Ritchie, Steuart, & Co., and Ewart, Latham, & Co., to pay brokerage for coals at the rate of four annas per ton, though there is no agreement.

Mr. Bayley then stated for the defence that this was an attempt on the part of the plaintiff to set up a claim for brokerage where brokerage was not due. The Custom was to pay brokerage after the contract has been carried out. Mr. Leggatt had no objection to pay brokerage at the ordinary rate if the contract was completed but the plaintiff failed to carry out the contract. After the arrival of the vessel several notices were sent to Jamsetjee to send lighters along side the ship and take delivery of the coals, but he failed to do so, and it was not until after it was advertised in the newspapers that the coals would be sold by public auction at his risk that Kandass Narrondass called at the office of the defendants and offered to take the coals. Plaintiff having done nothing to carry out the contract, and the whole transaction having become nugatory, a new contract on the same terms was entered into with Kandass who paid money at the time and took delivery of the coals. The allegation that this was a mortgage or sub-sale made to Kandass was, the learned counsel said, quite untrue, for, in reality it was a new contract entered into between defendants and Kandass Narrondass and in which plaintiff had no connection or interest whatever. He would prove the custom that the purchaser is sought after by the broker to take delivery of the goods, and that it is not until the whole transaction is completed that the broker becomes entitled to the brokerage. A broker is a mere agent, and according to the custom obtained here, he is not entitled to his brokerage, if the contract goes off.

Mr. J. R. P. Leggatt on being examined, said the coals were consigned to his firm by parties in England, on the 6th December last he contracted to sell the coals to Jamsetjee Eduljee at the rate of Rs. 15½ per ton. Plaintiff never came to him before nor did he interfere until after the contract was signed. Witness was asked to insert plaintiff's name in the agreement as Muncherjee. He agreed to pay four annas per two as brokerage to plaintiff on condition of the purchase money being paid and the transaction completed by the purchaser. He did not insert plaintiff's name in the contract. The vessel arrived on the 25th of January last and they gave notice to Jamsetjee Eduljee to take delivery of the coals. After a great deal of trouble Jamsetjee made his appearance and paid Rs. 7,000 for which he got coals worth Rs. 2,000. Jamsetjee did not pay the rest of the purchase money nor did he send his lighters along side the vessel to take delivery of the coals. Defendants made a demand for the rest of the money, which was not complied with; consequently they advertised to sell the coals by public auction at the risk of the first purchaser. On the morning that the advertisement appeared, Kandass Narrondass called at the office and bought the whole of the coals direct from witness and paid Rs. 13,800. They gave Kandass all the coals minus 90 tons which were detained on account of the non-payment of the boat-hire. Witness promised to pay plaintiff his brokerage, because the latter came in, company with the purchaser. Witness got a letter from the purchaser Jamsetjee assigning his interest in the coals to Kandass. Witness told plaintiff that he would pay him his brokerage on condition of the contract being completed by Jamsetjee Eduljee.

Mr. W. A. Hurst, a broker, said he has had experience of eighteen months in his business. The custom is that a broker earns his brokerage when the transaction is completed. He does not earn it if the contract goes off. It is his duty to see that it is properly brought about. If there is any hitch it is his duty to see it rectified. When the money is paid and the whole transaction is brought to a conclusion, he gets his brokerage. This is the general rule in Freight, cotton, coals, &c. In the opinion of witness the contract ceases when the purchaser transfers his interest to another party. Plaintiff was not entitled to his brokerage, because he failed in bringing about the original sale, and because the second transaction took place directly between the defendants and Kandass without plaintiff's interference.

Mr. C. D. Leggatt, partner of the firm, said he was present when the arrangement took place between them and Kandass. He looked upon it as a fresh contract and not as a transfer of the original. The custom is to pay brokerage when the transaction is completed by the delivery of the goods and the paying for them. In this case the contract was broken by the original purchaser. The letter of assignment did not bind witness to look upon the second transaction as a transfer. Kandass who is a friend of the firm on seeing the advertisement called at the office and offered to purchase the coals, saying that the first purchaser Jamsetjee Eduljee was a blackguard. Jamsetjee did not bring Kandass to witness.

Mr. Prentis in reply submitted that the contract was substantially performed by Jamsetjee Eduljee and his nominee Kandass Narrundass to whom it was transferred. Plaintiff was entitled to something and that something accrued upon his getting the contract made; it was not his duty to see the contract completed.

His HONOR in giving judgment said that the plaintiff appeared to him to have failed in substantiating his case on two grounds; first that he failed to prove an express contract between him and the defendants; and secondly, that he failed to prove the custom was as he alleged. It was admitted by the defendants that the plaintiff was to receive brokerage, but the contract been fully carried out. The plaintiff alleged that Mr. Leggatt promised to pay him brokerage at the rate of four apnas per ton, but he did not allege that there was an agreement that he was to receive brokerage as soon as the contract was signed. He further alleged that the custom of the place was to pay brokerage as soon as the contract was completed by the delivery of the goods and the payment of the purchase-money, but that his right to brokerage accrued as soon as the contract was signed. The witnesses who were called to prove the custom that brokerage became due as soon as the contract was signed, did not specify any particular instances, and therefore there was a failure of proof of such custom. All the witnesses, except Petamber Morojee, gave evidence in defendants' favour; they said it was the practice to pay brokerage after the goods are delivered and paid for, while Petamber said that it was in some instances paid beforehand. On behalf of the defendants special instances were brought to prove the custom, and therefore it was reliable evidence of custom. It had been actually proved, and Mr. John Leggatt's evidence on that point was not contradicted that the brokerage was to be paid after the completion of the contract. Mr. Hurst and Mr. Clement Leggatt proved the custom that it was not payable until after the contract was carried out. To prove the custom, it was also necessary to prove that it was a reasonable custom. Now, if it was the custom as alleged by the plaintiff and his witnesses that brokerage became payable on the signing of the contract, then every day merchants would be duped into entering into contracts with men of straw who would never think of carrying out the contract. It was clear from the evidence that this contract was broken by Jamsetjee Eduljee. It was clear also that he was called upon to take delivery of the coals, that he did not send a sufficient number of lighters alongside the vessel to receive the cargo, that he did not pay for the residue of the goods, that when the defendants advertised that the goods would be sold by public auction Kandass Narrondass came forward and offered to purchase them, and from defendants evidence it was clear that it was a direct contract between them and Kandass Narrondass. Therefore, as the brokerage is not earned until after the completion of the contract, and as the contract was broke, plaintiff was not entitled to his brokerage.—Verdict for defendants, and costs certified.

INDIAN.

(From our Correspondent.)

BARODA, 31st March 1862.—Since the circulation of the repeated rumours regarding the appointment of a new Governor for the Bombay Presidency, H. H. the Guicowar has directed Govindrow Roday the well known minister of his state to proceed to Bombay on a deputation, to confer with the-to-be Governor in connection with certain duties on the products of his territories. A propitious day having been fixed upon the said minister left his residence and, in conformity with the Hindoo custom having deposited in a neighbour's house one hundred Gooneas (the value of the sacred cord worn by the Brahmins) lotah, "Pan Suparee" box, &c. returned and resumed his duties waiting to start on hearing of the arrival of the new Governor.

The weather although sultry during the day is pretty cool at other times, and though considered here pleasant for this season yet the gentry of the Camp have arranged to send their ladies till June for the benefit of saline airs to Bulsar whither they proceed next week.

A grand Ball and supper was given by Col. James Devine, Commander-in-Chief of H. H. the Guicowar's Forces, at Motee Bhag on the 27th instant in celebration of his nuptials. H. H. honored the entertainment with his presence for an hour or so, and during his short stay presented the bride with a "Kinkhab Dress" "Suparee," nose gays and garlands of Jessamine with Rosewater were then distributed by his Senaputtee to all the guests. His Highness stayed to see one or two quadrills and palkas danced and then retired quite pleased with the performance. The Rev. Mr. Hughes, whose amiable qualities are so well on this side of India, heartily joined in the harmless amusement and delivered a touching prayer, combined with morality and joviality, during supper to the great satisfaction of the Company. The arrangements for the entertainment were conducted with a liberality worthy of the occasion, and Colonel Devine's courtesy and affability imparted much pleasure to all present. We wish the happy pair much joy and happiness and hope that Mrs. Devine will fully appreciate the amiable and social qualities of the gallant Colonel.

The temporary Railway Station House here is necessarily being pulled down in consequence of its delapidated condition and a part having lately tumbled to the ground—the latter occurrence has, we believe, induced the authorities to make up their minds to expedite the erection of a better and permanent building sooner than they previously intended.

The temporary one cost the Company a comparatively incredulous amount (Rs. 40,000). The miserable material used and the "cutcha" workmanship together with its ultimate destruction has cleared a round sum from the Company's Coffers. "This is the way the money goes. Pop goes the station."

THE Englishman, March 25, states that "His Excellency the Commander-in-chief left Umballah for Simlah on Friday last, the 21st; Brigadier Renny, heretofore commanding at Lucknow, goes to Umballah to command the Sirhind Division, in the room of Major General Gaunt, who is on leave to England; Major General Wyndham, of the Redan and the Lunacy case, has resigned his Divisional Command in India, and does not return to this country."

THE same journal makes the following announcement:

Dr. J. Corbyn, Superintendent of the Central Jail, Meerut, who left in the P. & O. Company's Steamer on Sunday morning for England, on medical certificate, has been summarily removed from his appointment by the government, and remanded to the Commander-in-Chief, in whose hands he will find himself on his return to this country. The circumstances of the case, which is as well should be generally known, and especially for the information of Medical Officers are as follows. Some days ago, when Lieutenant Colonel G. Denniss of the late 1st. Bengal Fusiliers, was taken ill with cholera at Burdwan; there being, from some unexplained cause no local medical aid available, search and enquiry were made in the railway-train coming down for a Medical Officer; and Dr. Corbyn, being on his way to the Presidency and Europe, was at the time in one of the carriages. The case was explained to him, and he was requested to leave the train and visit the sick officer; which he declined doing, confining his action in the matter to an interview with the native doctor, and expressing his opinion that all which the latter had done was right. He then continued his journey by the train. Lieutenant Colonel Denniss, as is known, and much regretted, died. The Government has removed Assistant Surgeon Corbyn from his appointment, in our opinion justly. The character of the medical profession for ready benevolence, and prompt kindly care, given at any expense or trouble to its members, should be upheld by them, and, in the case of government servants, maintained by compulsion if necessary."

We believe that the Members of the Medical profession will be the most decided in their approval of the severity of Government in this case.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Englishman makes the following complaint against the Income Tax administration:—

"I hold a situation in a Government office, and income tax is deducted in the monthly pay abstract, and that on my Company's papers is likewise deducted in the Interest drafts, so that what is not done in the Collectors office, is done properly and well with me at the ditional cost to government. Besides there are two bills against me on other accounts, one was presented to me on the 26th January last, and the other on the 7th February for four quarters from August 1860 to July 1861. Two more were handed over this morning for the following six months; so that you see I have been obliged to pay in less than two months, what I am required under the existing rule to discharge in six different times by quarterly payments in eighteen months. This is really hard; it cannot be urged, that it was difficult to find me out. I am not to be allowed to run up the bills at this rate; were the Collector himself treated in this way, I am sure, he would have felt most reluctant, if not unable, to pay as I have done notwithstanding his high salary. There is a note at foot of each bill, 'attention is called to the proceedings to be adopted under Section CLX. and CLXXX of the Act, if the tax hereby payable is not discharged on presentation of the bill;' am I bound to pay attention after the negligence of the men entrusted with the preparation and collection of the bills under a careless Collector, if so, this is indeed arbitray and unjust."

Our contemporary has the following remarks on this complaint, which certainly deserve every attention:

It is bad enough to have to pay a tax which is looked upon as unjust by many; but it is far worse to be oppressed, harrassed, and worried when there is not the slightest reason for it. So far from improving, the collection of this tax is becoming in its utter mismanagement, daily worse, and though there might have been some excuse for gross mismanagement at the commencement there can be none now. A certain number of officials are paid to execute clearly defined duties connected with the tax, and if they cannot earn the salaries they are paid, it is now high time that others were found who will do so. It is hard enough upon needy people to pay the money, but it is worse still to know that a portion of it goes to keep up an establishment not only incompetent to their duty, but who are permitted to annoy and harass those who pay them, by their neglect in the first place, and their privileged contempt of all resulting complaints."

THE following paragraph from the Hurkaru, March 25, points to an existing and crying social evil which ought to receive far more of the attention of government than it ever yet has:—

The proposed ukase which abolished the Licence Tax, decreed that the money which had been already collected should be returned to the owners. If Lord Canning had been enabled to set up any machinery by which absolute restitution could be accomplished, what an accession of knowledge we should have gained in consequence, with regard to the real incidence of direct taxation. The belief generally prevalent is, that a rupee paid into the government treasury as the produce of direct impost, represents at least an equal sum which has gone into the pockets of the tax-gatherers. It follows that the State is unable to redeem more than 50 per cent. of its promises to the public on the present occasion. Half of what has been collected has gone to enrich those enlightened and influential Bengalees who have had interest sufficient to obtain government employments, and whose relatives clamour so loudly for extended opportunities of plying that pleasant vocation.

THE Neilgherry Star, March 26, gives the following information:—

We are informed that a New Company, to be styled the "Carnatic Coffee Company," will shortly issue its Prospectus. This Company is a revival of the "Pulni Coffee and Tea Company" noticed some months back in our columns. The valley of Punachi in the Anamalai range has been selected as a more convenient and more fertile locality. Application has been already made to the Collector of Coimbatore for 3,000 acres of land, by the Chairman, Mr. John vans Agnew, Senior Member of the Firm of Messrs. Arbuthnot and Co. of Madras. The position and character of the Chairman will be a guarantee sufficient to command the confidence of the Public. The Agents are Messrs. Oakes and Co. and we think we are doing our readers good service in recommending them to be early in the field with their applications for shares.

THE Mofussilite, March 28, has the following notice of a new literary Magazine that has just made its debut in the Punjab:—

We have to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the first number of the Punjab Universal Magazine. The contents are as follows:—

"Introductory Remarks. Something to Love. On Colonization. Trial of Fate or Breach of Promise. Music and Painting. A Narrow Escape. War. On Dreams. Cleptomania. Review. Pre-Adamite Man. The Re-United Spouses."

The articles are all well written especially that which relates to Dreams. Such publications as this Magazine deserve the greatest encouragement in India where there is doubtless a very great dearth of literature.

THE Madras Times, March 28, makes the following announcement:—

This evening in the Banqueting Hall the University of Madras holds its annual Convocation for the conferring of Degrees. Nine Students who have completed the course prescribed in Arts or in Law come up to receive at the hands of His Excellency, Sir William Denison, Chancellor of the University, the token of admission into the Honorable Guild of Graduates. These commencing Bachelors are, we hear, all except two dents of the Presidency CoNege in Madras, which to the present day by a popular confusion of ideas and names enjoys the rank of "the Madras University."

Our contemporary states that the influence which the Madras University is exerting on education throughout the Presidency, is on the increase. Distant schools feel the benefit of the stimulus it applies. "At the last examination, as was mentioned in this Journal some time ago, the number of candidates for admission on the list of undergraduates of the University was double that of the year previous, which again had about the same ratio to the number that presented themselves in 1860. We are told that upwards of two hundred offered themselves this year for examination, each of whom deposited in token of his belief in his possession of the requisite attainments and sincerity of purpose, an entrance fee of five rupees!—a sum at which a young Hindu will look twice before he will put it down for the more pleasure of taking "a shot."

THE Poona Observer April 1, regrets to hear that cholera is raging in that city.

THE Oudh Gazette, March 26, has the following remarks on the Star of India and the Nizam:—

"We read in a Mahomedan Journal, published at some place in Behar, that the Nizam of the Deccan has never, since he has been invested, worn in public the Star or Collar of the Order of India: so great is his dread of exciting the religious feelings of his Mahomedan subjects. It is, indeed, pitiable to find that, where such ignorance is bliss, such transcendant honor should have been conferred. The first and principal object of the decorations is to add lustre to its dignity, and enhance the prestige and the power of the Prince in the estimation of the people generally of India, and of his own territories in particular: did it ever strike the Indian authorities to ascertain, preparatory to the investiture of the Nizam, whether such results would necessarily follow his elevation to the highest distinction within the prerogative of the Queen to bestow on him? whether the rank, the importance, and the conditions of merit which attach to the order, were properly understood and appreciated by the Nizam, as well as his subjects? whether, in short, the intended honor would in word and in deed be really deemed an honor by them, or be only looked upon and treated with the contempt which we are now informed that it is? We cannot believe that any pains were taken to elicit enlightenment on these points, or, if there were, gross deception was evidently practised in its vouchsafement."

THE Fyzabad correspondent (March 23) of the Oudh Gazette says:—

"Great improvements are taking place in this town. New rows of houses with a fine broadway between are being constructed. The new and much required cutchery is coming into existence, and altogether Fyzabad is at present a go-a-head station, and will in time regain some of its pristine distinction! the very roads wear away a horse's shoes in a fortnight, sufficient proof of their" macadamization. Its dark spot is the nest of scorpions in Ajoodhia, villainous dissemination of idol-worship and mischief. Fuqueers, (from F. comes Paqua, Q. Queaquiers, and R. Faquir), pious and self-denying men who are constantly charging one another with thefts of large amounts. Weather becoming warm.

"A splendid harvest in prospect.

"Opium is also looking up. This province must double its revenue in a few years, the richness of the soil is inconceivable. The crying want is facility of transport—good roads and strong permanent bridges are in course of construction and being energetically pushed forward, but I think more expenditure in labour is required, more workmen, and always European supervision."

THE following is from the Oudh Gazette, March 26:

"Baraitch.—On the 19th just. at 7 A. M., one "Jhunlee," caste Khan, in the presence of his children, and 15 or 16 villagers, committed suicide by causing herself to be buried alive. The name of the village is Tapeshissah, distant 1½ coss from the Byram Ghat outpost and 7 coss from the Hossainpore Police station. The chokeydar of the village on hearing of the woman's intention went off at once to inform the police at Byram Ghat, the Head Constable in charge of which outpost having despatched a constable to give information at the Tahseel station of Hissainpoor went to the village, arriving there about 8½ P. M. The woman had been buried and was dead, but the body was instanter disinterred and sent in to the Civil Assistant Surgeon, who stated the woman had met her death by suffocation caused by being buried alive.

"No particular cause is assigned for this act, further than that she considered she had been "called" to end her life.

"The husband and 15 men, all Aheers, or Kahars, men of very low caste, (and all gave a helping hand in the burial) have been apprehended, and chained to the Deputy Commissioner on a charge of abetment of suicide, Chapter No. XVI. paragraph 306 of Indian Penal Code.

Defendants make no secret of their guilt."

THE Delhi Gazette, March 27, has received the following letter from Central Asia:—

Our Cabul letter which has reached us this morning just before going to press, and will be published next issue, brings us news up to the 18th March, on which date the Ameer received despatches from Kandahar with the unwelcome intelligence that the causes inconvenience and dissatisfaction. The detention of carts for a single day at such *choke*y makes a considerable difference in a fluctuating distant market, to say nothing of the enhanced price. We cannot but think, in the face of the hints, if not positive commands the British Government gives to the foreign states around us, that the levy which we notice is "an overnight."

We would beg the early attention of Mr. Temple to the matter.

GOVERNMENTAL INQUIRY INTO THE CHARACTER OF NATIVE LITERATURE.

(From the Englishman, March 25.)

In August 1860, when offering an explanation to the Government of India, of his conduct in connection with the translation into English, and subsequent publication of the Nil Durpgass, the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal wrote as follows :—

"I have always been of opinion that considering our state of more than semi-isolation from all classes of native society, public functionaries in India have been habitually too regardless of those depths of native feeling which do not show upon the surface, and too habitually careless of all those means of information which are available to us for ascertaining them. Popular songs every where, and in Bengal popular native plays, are amongst the most patent, and most neglected of those means. I have always attributed our unforewarned condition when the shock of 1857 occurred, to this popular defect."

[illegible] part from the particular act this was meant to [illegible] we neither had nor have any fault to find with [illegible]ning of the Lieutenant Governor. We were [illegible]d of the soundness of the argument, that to our [illegible]ess of the bent of the native mind, and to our [illegible]of the means by which it might have been [illegible]s mainly due our ignorance of what was im- [illegible]in 1857; and the entire absence of preparation [illegible]part to meet and withstand the shock of so wide- [illegible]nd sudden a rebellion. From a perusal of the [illegible]aragraph of the Lieutenant Governor's minute, [illegible]as of those preceding it, we were much impress- [illegible] the soundness of the opinions expressed, and our appreciation of Mr. Grant's ability was considerably augmented thereby. We never for one moment doubted that, ideas so clearly stated and apparently so opposed to the views of Indian statesmen generally, as these, from the language used and tone adopted appeared to be,—could be other than the genuine emanations of the fertile and logical brain of the writer. Our surprise was therefore considerable when we lately ascertained, that these ideas, adopted as his by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal proceeded from a far different source.

We find that the expediency of instituting a general enquiry into the extent and tendency of the Native literature of the day, was first suggested by the late Court of the Directors in 1857, and they then ordered that the Director of Public Instruction should be desired to submit an annual report on the Native publications of the year, the special reference to the character of the periodical literature, and the estimated extent of its circulation. At the time that this suggestion was made it was found impossible to act upon it. The officers of the Educational Department, whom it was proposed to employ in the censorship of the Native press were considerably over-worked; and their establishments already inefficient, were quite inadequate to meet any accession of work. It was therefore recommended that a librarian or reader should be attached to the department, whose special duty it should be to examine and report upon the publications of the vernacular press, and as an obviously indispensable condition, it became requisite that a copy of every Vernacular publication should be furnished to the Director's office. For the salary and contingent expenses of the proposed vernacular reader, an allowance of Rs. 250 per mensem was asked for. In the meantime the Government of India had been transferred from the Court of Directors of the East India Company, to the Crown, and on the subject being brought before the Secretary of State for India, he remarked that the proposal was not such as Her Majesty could sanction under the existing financial pressure, and that the consideration of it must accordingly be reserved for a future occasion. The question was revived incidentally in July 1860, in connection with a proposal submitted by Mr. Atkinson for an extension of the plan and scope of the Educational Gazette with the view of its becoming a recognized political organ of government; but the same objections to the incurring of expense, and the inadequacy of the educational department to meet the demand upon it, which caused the abandonment of the scheme in 1857, were brought forward to still a bar to its adoption. It will thus be seen that the views enunciated by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in his minute though his by adoption, did not originate with him, but with the source whence proceeded, in days gone by, many other liberal measures—the Court of Directors of the East India Company. As the subject of the censorship of the Native press is again under the consideration of Government and as we shall have to refer it in the course of a day or two, we have seized the present opportunity to render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's.

COST OF EDUCATION.

(From the Deccan Herald, March 31.)

Some time ago, we called attention to the fact that there are only two or three persons in every hundred that receive education in this Presidency. One reason of this is the expensiveness of the present machinery.

The following calculations have been made from the volume published last year, purporting to be a "Report on Public Instruction in the Bombay Presidency" but which we should have desired to be much more copious in details, as well as more correct in style, in those portions of it, which are not extracts from the Report of Subordinates. We should say in passing that these have been too much curtailed and are the most interesting and readable part of the book.

The following facts brought to light in this volume are worthy of consideration. Our most expensive Educational Establishments are the Elphinstone College in Bombay, the Poona Government College and the Engineering and Mechanical School. The monthly cost of instruction for each pupil in these Establishments is as follows :

	Rs.	As.
The Poona College	60	9
The Elphinstone College	50	0
The Engineering and Mechanical do...	35	0

Poona is a far cheaper as well as a more salubrious place to live in than Bombay is, and the Poona College is far less brilliant in its "light" than the Elphinstone College, yet each young man in Poona costs Government a hundred and twenty six rupees a year more than one in Bombay. There is room for a wholesome financial stroke here. The next most expensive Institutions are "Government Schools of the Higher Class," in which pupils are instructed up to the entrance standard of the Bombay University, that is to say, the pupils are taught "to read with articulate utterance and just expression," attain a certain command of language and not literary knowledge or taste; they are taken through a course of Arithmatic, Algebra as far as simple Equations, and the first four books of Euclid with deductions; they learn Elementary History and Geography, and Elementary knowledge of any one or more branches of National Science. The principal Government establishments of this kind are the Bombay Elphinstone Central School and the Poona Government College, (as they call it). Of these the former has been by far the more successful in feeding the University, yet the Poona College instructs at a monthly cost of 4 Rupees and 9 annas per head, while the Elphinstone Central School does better, at 3 Rupees 14 annas a head. Vernacular schools, in Instruction of each boy up to the Bombay University Entrance Standard, cost Government last year 125 Rupees (this is the exact amount exclusive of stipends) more in Poona than it did in Bombay, and then the proportion of those who attained it from Bombay was greater than those from Poona.

The next Class of Government Educational Establishments is called by the same name as the former, —"Government Schools of the Higher Class" but without the adjunct "teaching up to University Entrance Standard" (another sample of English Style. Whoever saw a School teaching?) Of these the most expensive, so far as we have seen, are, the "Superior Anglo—Vernacular School" in Deesa, where the instruction of each Pupil costs 5 rupees and 5 annas a month, at Sholapore it costs 3 rupees and 4 annas to instruct each pupil, at Kaira each head costs 3 rupees and 2 annas a month, at Ahmedabad nearly 3 rupees a month, for a little English and Vernacular Instruction. The others range below this, but surely these are high figures for the localities mentioned. In Bombay where, doubtless, is the best of this class of School is to be found, the monthly average of each pupil is only One Rupee and 14 annas.

In the whole of this division of the Educational establishments under Government, there is room for financial reform, especially in these most egregious instances. Of the Vernacular Schools, where no English, and only one of the vernaculars is taught, the expense may be compared with that of other similar schools in the Country; and where this comparison can be made, we doubt not that Missionary and other Schools have instructed more boys for the same money than the Government. The average per month, taken from the published "Report" stands nearly as below :—

Province.	Monthly Average per Pupil. As.	Ps.
Candeish	8	0
Tanna	9	4
Surat nearly	7	8
Broach	10	6
Kaira	9	4
Ahmedabad	7	9
Poona	5	1
Sattara	7	6
Ahmednuggur about	6	3
Sholapore	9	0
Belgaum	6	1
Dharwar	5	9
Ratnagherry	6	1

The American Missionaries in the Ahmednuggur Collectorate manage to instruct Boys in the vernacular for 3 annas a head or under, or about half the expense Government incurs and about one third of the whole average of Governmental Vernacular Education, this average being about 9 annas and 7 pies a month for each Pupil. That Government education can be of three times or even of double the value of that under the Superintendence of Missionaries, &c., is incredible. What is wont for a financial stroke of policy through—out most of the Schools of the Educational Department.
